

1		Minutes
2		Roseville Community Engagement Commission (CEC)
3		Thursday, January 12, 2017 - 6:30 p.m.
4	1.	Roll Call
5		Chair Scot Becker called the meeting to order at approximately 6:30 p.m. and City
6		Manager Trudgeon called the roll.
7
8		Commissioners Present: Chair Scot Becker; Vice Chair Chelsea Holub, and
9 10		Commissioners Peter Sparby, Erik Tomlinson,
10		Amber Sattler, and Michelle Manke
12		Staff Present: Staff Liaison/City Manager Patrick Trudgeon
13		Stan Present. Stan Elaison/City Manager Patrick Trudgeon
14	2.	Approve Agenda
15		Commissioner Tomlinson moved, Commissioner Sattler seconded, approval of the
16		agenda as presented.
17
18		Ayes: 6
19		Nays: 0
20		Motion carried.
21
22	3.	Public Comment on Items Not on Agenda
23
24	4.	Approval of December 8, 2016 Meeting Minutes
25		Comments and corrections to draft minutes had been submitted by various CEC
26 27		Commissioners prior to tonight's meeting and those revisions were incorporated into the draft presented in tonight's granda packet
28		into the draft presented in tonight's agenda packet.
28 29		Commissioner Sattler moved, Commissioner Holub seconded, approval of
30		December 8, 2016 meeting minutes as amended.
31		December 0, 2010 meeting minutes as anended.
32		Corrections:
33		Page 10, Lines 443 – 450 (Sparby/Holub)
34		Commissioner Sparby questioned if he was the speaker regarding this
35		department review of ongoing initiatives, and based on his recollection,
36		suggested it may have been Commissioner Holub speaking. After some
37		discussion and without resolution, City Manager Trudgeon stated that he would
38		review the meeting tape and determine the speaker and change the paragraph
39		accordingly.
40
41		Ayes: 6
42 43		Nays: 0 Motion carried.
43 44

5. Old Business

a. 2017 Work Plan / Priority Projects Update

Commissioner Sattler stated her recollection that creating a toolbox was part of the under-represented communities' priority.

Chair Becker advised that creation of a toolbox had been a recommendation of the CEC to the City Council for community engagement options.

Under-represented Communities

(Commissioners Holub, Manke, Sattler)

- Commissioner Sattler referenced the written report (Attachment 5A) entitled "Under-represented Populations Subgroup...Goals..." Ms. Sattler noted the revised definition of "under-represented populations" based on feedback from the December meeting; with no additional comments on the definition offered from the CEC at tonight's meeting.
- Commissioner Sattler noted the next step would be to determine a toolbox and address other goals for recommendation on ways to increase diversity within city leadership.
 - Commissioner Manke noted that the intent was for a phased approach.

CEC Documentation

(Chair Becker and Commissioners Tomlinson and Sparby)

- From a meeting of the subgroup several weeks ago, Commissioner Sparby referenced Attachment 5A entitled, "Roseville Community Engagement Commission Definition of Terms" for consideration by the CEC. Commissioner Sparby noted that this was a result of reviewing city code, previous definitions of civic and community engagements, and minor updates for use by the CEC and city going forward, as well as recommended policies and strategies previously developed by the CEC in 2014. In lieu of revising the 2014 document, Commissioner Sparby suggested retaining the document for a historical perspective, with updated 2017 policies and strategies.
 - Commissioner Sparby referenced his two related documents he'd prepared: "2017 CEC Recommended Policies & Strategies" consisting of five recommendations, and then a more detailed list of initiatives, purpose/rationale, and recommendation as part of those five recommendations to the City Council. Commissioner Sparby sought CEC comment.
- 87
 88 Commissioner Holub thanked Commissioner Sparby for compiling these 89 five recommendations, opining it was a good way to set them up and 90 reference city code accordingly to help keep that in mind and the CEC's

97

110

117

122 123

124

125 126

127

128

129 130

131

132

133

134

135

- 91specific charge. Regarding the formatting, Commissioner Holub made92several suggestions for the title and subtitles to avoid redundancy and93questioned what was intended by "goals."
- 95 Commissioner Sparby clarified that "goals" was intended to indicate 96 "objectives."
- 98 Chair Becker suggested perhaps "priorities" may be a better term; and with 99 no objection from his colleagues, asked Commissioner Sparby to update the 100 draft document accordingly.
 101
- Beyond the definition of "under-represented groups," Commissioner Holub suggested the subgroup rewrite that for more specificity.
- 105Chair Becker noted that this document was intended to cross-reference with106past priority lists as well; along with updated direction from the City107Council to be included if and when provided. Therefore, Chair Becker108suggested not taking any further action on the draft document, pending109further refinement.
- 111Referencing his attachment 5A entitled "2017 CEC Priority Projects"112developed from the flip chart as discussed and categorized by the CEC at113the December 2016 meeting, City Manager Trudgeon asked if the intent of114this report was to encompass all of those 2017 priorities in a different format115to provide a template going forward, or if it was specific only to the116documentation task list identified two pages earlier as a priority.
- 118Commissioner Sparby stated that the first document was intended to lay out119those 2017 priorities, but the goal of the more detailed document was to120provide a dynamic, day-to-day document at a higher level and needing121updating less frequently.
 - If so, City Manager Trudgeon suggested reconciling what he'd heard with this document moving forward.
 - Commissioner Sparby stated that when he took his first look, it included his recollection of priorities; but agreed that it needed refinement and cross-referencing and reconciliation before any formal action was taken.
 - Commissioner Tomlinson also asked if this more detailed document was based on the list prepared by City Manager Trudgeon from that December 2016 CEC meeting, and was intended to provide further organizational documentation, outlining recommended strategies and documents, going into 2017 and beyond.

- 136Commissioner Sparby clarified that both documents would need to be137matched up; and offered to work with City Manager Trudgeon off line to138make sure that ultimately occurred.
- 140City Manager Trudgeon noted that this document could be referred to for141monthly updates, as laid out if that was the understanding by the entire CEC142once reconciled. However, since he saw some differences in the two143documents, Mr. Trudgeon suggested further discussion might be required144by the CEC before that occurred.
- 146Based on his perspective, Commissioner Sparby stated that he saw the list147provided by City Manager Trudgeon as a list; with his draft document148expanding on that list and identifying what the CEC was doing going149forward. Having not seen it when initially putting together his list,150Commissioner Sparby offered to take City Manager Trudgeon's list and use151those categories to expand upon, but use that to list out projects.
 - Commissioner Holub volunteered to assist Commissioner Sparby with Item 3 on the list; and cross-reference it accordingly (under-represented groups).

b. Comprehensive Plan Community Engagement Plan

(Commissioners Tomlinson and Sparby)

- As a bench handout, attached hereto and made a part hereof, City Manager Trudgeon provided an updated spreadsheet from the most recent meeting of the Planning Commission with the consultant team and staff (dated 12/08/16) incorporating feedback to-date. Mr. Trudgeon advised that the red print indicated feedback received to-date from a variety of commissioners, and had yet to be vetted by the City Council. Mr. Trudgeon noted that a draft community engagement plan was in process by the consultant at this time and was scheduled for presentation to the City Council at their January 23, 2017 meeting. Upon receipt, Mr. Trudgeon advised that he would forward a copy to the CEC; and upon approval of the plan by the City Council, the process would move forward.
 - Commissioner Holub noted that the feedback provided to City Manager Trudgeon via email from her and Commissioners Sattler and Manke specific to their priority project didn't appear to be included in this latest iteration of the spreadsheet, and asked if there had been any comment on that feedback.
- 177City Manager Trudgeon advised that he was not sure how the specific178feedback was incorporated but said he will follow-up to ensure the179subcommittee's feedback had been received by the consultant and Planning180Commission.
- 181

139

145

152 153

154

155 156

157

158 159

160

161

162

163

164 165

166

167

168

169

170 171

172

173

174

175

176

182 6. New Business183

184

208 209

210

211

212

213

214

215

216

217

218

219

a. Welcome Packet Discussion

185 As previously requested by the CEC, City Manager Trudgeon provided 186 several past welcome packets for review, and summarized a history of the 187 packet, initially developed in 2007/2008 as a housing promotion effort, and 188 later updated as a welcome packet as part of the "Living Smarter" marketing 189 campaign, initiated by the city's former Housing & Redevelopment Authority (HRA). Mr. Trudgeon reported that, with the mailing list 190 191 developed through the city's utility department for new customers, 192 documents included were a letter from the mayor and HRA Chair and 193 resources on housing loan programs and resources that would assist 194 residents in maintaining Roseville's current housing stock. 195

- 196 Mr. Trudgeon reported that approximately 200 welcome packets were 197 distributed annually; but once the supply of the latest version had been 198 exhausted, no new printing was done, pending a revamp of the packet or its 199 discontinuation. However, Mr. Trudgeon further reported that a new mini-200 version had been developed by staff for new utility customers providing a 201 brief summary of those specific resources still available (Attachment 6A) 202 but clarified that the brochure was not intended to be the "Welcome Wagon" 203 approach.
- 204205Chair Becker noted, with agreement by City Manager Trudgeon, that the206brochure was distributed to new homeowners, usually not renters unless207they were responsible for their own utilities versus the landlord.
 - Commissioner Manke noted that, when this had first been presented to the CEC, the idea was to move away from printing with an online version, while still able to print a PDF copy if so desired. Commissioner Manke also noted her ongoing interest in including local businesses into the welcome packet for reference by residents. While recognizing that may be a time-consuming effort at the front end, Commissioner Manke opined that once notices went out that the city was looking at businesses to participate, it shouldn't require too much additional work, and suggested it would encourage residents to start with their hometown businesses first before going elsewhere.
- City Manager Trudgeon cautioned that the city needed to maintain the stance that they were not recommending one business over another, thus their hesitancy to involve business listings in the brochure to avoid steering business in a certain way. While having seen that practice in other communities, Mr. Trudgeon also noted private businesses that may create catalogs or resources, even though he wasn't aware of any such practice specific to Roseville. Mr. Trudgeon noted that this could be an option, but

231 232

233

234

235

244

245 246

247

253

264

265

266

267

268

269

270

- expressed concern with the time-intensive aspect of keeping the informationupdated and how and when to do those updates.
 - Commissioner Sattler stated that she liked the "help page" on the back of the mini brochure now being used, since it provided more general and helpful information and contact numbers to Roseville residents without advertising particular businesses and opined the brochure should continue to be used rather than eliminated.
- 236 Commissioner Holub asked if Ramsey County provided similar information 237 about their services.
 238
- City Manager Trudgeon reported that he was aware of some information on seniors or health care services, but since many organizations relied on the web for posting resources, he wasn't personally aware of a hard copy version of Ramsey County resource information.
 - Commissioner Holub suggested, if one is not already available, a one-stop shop type of resource for children, veterans and other residents coordinated by the city and county.
- 248Commissioner Sattler reiterated her appreciation of the mini booklet,249opining it seemed efficient; and suggested it could be expanded to serve as250a resource for many government resources, whether city, county, state or251federal, and serve those new to the Roseville community and/or State of252MN.
- 254To the extent the tool could be used, Chair Becker suggested the255information, recommendations and referrals from a city perspective be256outsourced to NextDoor.com, as long as it didn't require city staff to update257or populate the site.258
- Commissioner Manke reiterated her interest in retaining the focus more online, with printable PDF copies available from that source as needed; as well as links that could provide more elaborate information (e.g. housing, Roseville history, senior services, etc.)
 - City Manager Trudgeon noted this discussion was to focus on the welcome packet; while the discussion was moving toward a resource guide. While there may be some overlap in providing community or city services, Mr. Trudgeon noted this indicated including broader information for the county and state – some of that information that was private and some citygenerated.
- 271Commissioner Manke agreed she was interested in providing resources272beyond utilities and trash haulers, in an effort to provide residents with a

294

295

296

297 298

299

300

301

302

303

307 308

309

310

311312

313

314 better understanding of what Roseville was about and how new residents could get involved in their community in various aspects, whether through civic aspects with advisory commissions, information on the local election process and ways to get involved, or volunteering in other ways. Again, Commissioner Manke noted the online version could be more expansive than print versions.

Commissioner Sattler stated her appreciation for receiving a welcome from the city welcoming new residents to the community, what Roseville offered them, and how they could become involved in their new community.
Commissioner Sattler noted her receipt of a number of brochures upon moving to Roseville, but opined they may have been privately sent from local businesses as advertisements for them.

- 287 Commissioner Manke agreed that information was probably prompted 288 through the change of address process.
 289
- 290 Commissioners shared their personal experiences in receiving welcome 291 packets from the cities in its various iterations and their appreciation of that 292 city effort.
 - Commissioner Manke referenced a link she had sent to City Manager Trudgeon previously with an online packet from another community that she found well done.
 - Commissioner Sattler opined that the city's website was welcoming and had useful information available, but also spoke of the value of a mailing to residents directing them to that information available on the website. Commissioner Sattler suggested including a City of Roseville pin or magnet in that welcome mailing as well as a positive approach.
- 304Commissioner Manke noted the advantage of the online piece was for cross-305linking a number of things, and getting information out in more than one306way to make it easier for residents to access.
 - Noting the many creative ideas provided tonight, Chair Becker noted it could serve as good background information for the CEC's future reference moving into 2017.
 - City Manager Trudgeon advised that he'd bring the information from tonight's discussion back to the city's Community Development and Communications staff to further vet those ideas.
- 315
 316
 317
 318
 Commissioner Holub opined that it would be awesome to provide residents with access to cultural resources, noting surveys of people of color moving to the Twin Cities indicating that they had not felt welcome or not having 319access to those resources. While understanding that may not be within the purview of the city, Commissioner Holub noted that the city could still provide information about organizations, agencies and resources that are available to those residents.

324 b. Discuss Renewing Gavel Club Membership

- Chair Becker referenced a web page (Attachment 6B) form the North 325 326 Suburban Gavel Association, noting the CEC's $15 membership renewal 327 was due March 1, 2017, and asked if there was interest in renewing it. Chair 328 Becker noted that the association served a broader membership than 329 Roseville (other cities and community service organizations); and their 330 meetings typically consisted of various groups or members providing 331 updates on their activities. In the past, Chair Becker noted that the 332 association's meeting minutes were distributed to the full CEC via email, 333 with meetings sometimes attended by past commissioners on the CEC as 334 they were available.
- City Manager Trudgeon was asked to review if past meeting minutes of the association were available for review by the current CEC; with Mr.
 Trudgeon advising that the minutes appeared to be available for anyone, whether or not members, on the association's website.
- 341Discussion ensued on the availability of individual commissioners for this342daytime meeting (Wednesday noon); free-form reports and announcements343from attendees and subsequent meeting minutes versus a formal set agenda344prior to association meetings; meetings open to the public and held in the345Willow Room at Roseville City Hall but no televised on CTV; and346networking and connections made at the meetings as more of a social347function.
 - Without objection, commissioners decided to let the membership lapse.

351 7. Chair, Committee and Staff Reports

353 a. Chair Report

323

335

349 350

352

356 357

358

359

360

361

362

354 355 b. Staff Report

ii. Open House

City Manager Trudgeon provided a brief update on internal discussions underway by city staff at this time, using the ideas brought forward by the CEC; with logistics and location being considered, but anticipating an early May Open House date.

363With the position approved by the City Council as part of their 2017364budget, City Manager Trudgeon noted advertising would occur in

366

367

368 369

370

371 372

373 374

375

376

377

378 379

380

381

382

383 384

385 386

387

388

389

390

391

392

393

394

395

396

397

398

399

400

401

402

403

404 405

406

407

408

409

410

the near future for an Assistant City Manager. Mr. Trudgeon advised that the intent was to involve that position more in these types of issues.

i. Upcoming Items on Future Council Agendas

City Manager Trudgeon reported that the "Speak Up! Roseville" website would be revisited by the City Council soon (February 2017).

At the last City Council meeting, City Manager Trudgeon noted reappointments and authorization by the City Council for staff to advertise advisory commission vacancies was discussed and approved as presented, with the exception of the CEC. Mr. Trudgeon advised that the CEC reappointments of Commissioners Holub and Manke were not acted upon, nor was staff authorized to advertise for vacancies pending review by the City Council of their direction to and intended role for the CEC. Given the high turnover on the CEC since its inception, Mr. Trudgeon reported that the City Council wanted to look at whether or not to recalibrate the CEC in this format or to clarify its charge to the CEC.

City Manager Trudgeon advised that he could provide no further answers to the CEC at this point; but noted a City Council subcommittee of Mayor Roe and City Councilmember Laliberte were tasked for an immediate review, including having conversations with past and existing commissioners, at which time they would report back to the full City Council for further discussion. Mr. Trudgeon reported that he had pointed out to the City Council how quick March would be coming around for filling vacancies; as well as the CEC's 2017 priority work plan underway. Mr. Trudgeon advised that this work was fully recognized by the City Council and urged the CEC to continue their efforts. However, Mr. Trudgeon also advised that the City Council suggested that the CEC think about what things they could provide to the city in the very near future, as well as things that could be wrapped up by April (e.g. best practices, tool boxes, previous document updates for best practices such as for under-represented communities) and other ideas they could bring forward to the City Council form the CEC based on their work to-date.

For those commissioners interested in getting a better perspective from individual council members, City Manager Trudgeon urged commissioners to reach out to them. Mr. Trudgeon advised that he had provided a link to the meeting video in his recent email to the CEC. Mr. Trudgeon stated that he hoped to have more information available before the CEC's February 2017 meeting; and recognized 411 that this placed the CEC and him in a rather awkward place in 412 outlining efforts for the remainder of 2017. Mr. Trudgeon advised 413 that he was happy to attempt to answer any of the commission's 414 questions or hear their comments at this point. 415 416 Commissioner Holub recognized the bumps in the road historically 417 by this commission, but asked City Manager Trudgeon if there had 418 been anything in particular that sparked the City Council to come to 419 this decision at their last meeting. Commissioner Holub opined that 420 it seemed rather sudden from her perspective, especially when 421 remembering the City Council's positive feedback heard at the last 422 joint meeting of the CEC and them, particularly about the CEC's 423 objective and role. If the feedback from that meeting had indicated 424 their dissatisfaction, Commissioner Holub opined that the CEC 425 would have been more than happy to address any areas of concern. 426 427 Based on his personal observations, City Manager Trudgeon 428 suggested that when observing the past turmoil and turnover on the CEC, it may have caused the City Council to question if the advisory 429 430 commission was working as intended, noting as an example how 431 contentious and big of an issue the whole neighborhood association 432 discussion had become. Mr. Trudgeon noted that the City Council's 433 intent in considering neighborhood groups or associations had been 434 an attempt to bring people together, but instead it had become 435 confrontational. 436 437 City Manager Trudgeon reported that the City Council, on more 438 than one occasion, had questioned if they had given sufficient or 439 good direction to the CEC. Mr. Trudgeon referenced the limited 440 dialogue when the CEC was initially created in 2014; and suggested 441 that limited direction may have led to some of the issues not having 442 been thought out sufficiently by the City Council or directing the 443 proper role of the CEC and what they were charged to do and not to 444 do. 445 446 City Manager Trudgeon reiterated his statement that commissioners 447 contact council members individually if interested to hear their 448 perspectives. 449 450 Commissioner Sattler stated that she had enjoyed her service on the 451 CEC, and noted that while her term was ending this year, clarified that her reason for not reapplying was due to her work schedule not 452 453 being as flexible as she anticipated, causing her to use her vacation 454 time to attend CEC meetings. 455

456	Chair Becker thanked Commissioner Sattler for her service and
457	commitment to the CEC.
458
459	Chair Becker noted that he had committed to serve out the remainder
460	of his term as Chair of the CEC when submitting his resignation, to
461	ensure continuity with a number of new commissioners coming on 462	board. From that "lame duck" perspective, Chair Becker offered his 463	personal thoughts on the situation. With three vacancies on the 464	CEC, two positions up for reappointment, and unless action was
465	taken by the City Council by April 1, 2017, Chair Becker noted that
466	the CEC would be down to only two members.
467
468	Given that scenario, Chair Becker asked his colleagues if they
469	wanted to continue working on projects in a vacuum without City
470	Council feedback in the meantime in case they chose to change
471	directions for or with the CEC. While commissions typically
472	regenerate themselves from year to year, Chair Becker questioned if
473	the City Council was running away from something they had asked
474	the CEC to do, and therefore questioned the amount of time
475	commissioners were willing to commit to continue those efforts.
476	Chair Becker opined that "community engagement" sounded great
477	and everyone was interested in it; but noted other things happened
478	beyond what was trying to be accomplished.
479
480	Becker moved, Manke seconded, canceling the February 9 and
480 481	March 9, 2017 CEC meetings until the City Council resolved if
480 481 482	March 9, 2017 CEC meetings until the City Council resolved if the CEC was to continue until April; whereupon vacancies
480 481 482 483	March 9, 2017 CEC meetings until the City Council resolved if the CEC was to continue until April; whereupon vacancies could be filled and the CEC could move forward with a new
480 481 482 483 484	March 9, 2017 CEC meetings until the City Council resolved if the CEC was to continue until April; whereupon vacancies
480 481 482 483 484 485	March 9, 2017 CEC meetings until the City Council resolved if the CEC was to continue until April; whereupon vacancies could be filled and the CEC could move forward with a new mission and priorities accordingly.
480 481 482 483 484 485 486	March 9, 2017 CEC meetings until the City Council resolved if the CEC was to continue until April; whereupon vacancies could be filled and the CEC could move forward with a new mission and priorities accordingly.Commissioner Manke suggested a friendly amendment to the
480 481 482 483 484 485 486 487	 March 9, 2017 CEC meetings until the City Council resolved if the CEC was to continue until April; whereupon vacancies could be filled and the CEC could move forward with a new mission and priorities accordingly. Commissioner Manke suggested a friendly amendment to the motion to "pending decision of the City Council" should the City
480 481 482 483 484 485 486 487 488	 March 9, 2017 CEC meetings until the City Council resolved if the CEC was to continue until April; whereupon vacancies could be filled and the CEC could move forward with a new mission and priorities accordingly. Commissioner Manke suggested a friendly amendment to the motion to "pending decision of the City Council" should the City Council decide in February to reappoint commissioners and/or
480 481 482 483 484 485 486 487 488 489	 March 9, 2017 CEC meetings until the City Council resolved if the CEC was to continue until April; whereupon vacancies could be filled and the CEC could move forward with a new mission and priorities accordingly. Commissioner Manke suggested a friendly amendment to the motion to "pending decision of the City Council" should the City Council decide in February to reappoint commissioners and/or provide better direction to the CEC. Commissioner Manke opined
480 481 482 483 484 485 486 487 488 489 490	 March 9, 2017 CEC meetings until the City Council resolved if the CEC was to continue until April; whereupon vacancies could be filled and the CEC could move forward with a new mission and priorities accordingly. Commissioner Manke suggested a friendly amendment to the motion to "pending decision of the City Council" should the City Council decide in February to reappoint commissioners and/or provide better direction to the CEC. Commissioner Manke opined that, should there be new direction or a City Council decision for
480 481 482 483 484 485 486 487 488 489 490 491	 March 9, 2017 CEC meetings until the City Council resolved if the CEC was to continue until April; whereupon vacancies could be filled and the CEC could move forward with a new mission and priorities accordingly. Commissioner Manke suggested a friendly amendment to the motion to "pending decision of the City Council" should the City Council decide in February to reappoint commissioners and/or provide better direction to the CEC. Commissioner Manke opined that, should there be new direction or a City Council decision for this CEC to move forward, the loss of Chair Becker's experience
480 481 482 483 484 485 486 487 488 489 490 491 492	 March 9, 2017 CEC meetings until the City Council resolved if the CEC was to continue until April; whereupon vacancies could be filled and the CEC could move forward with a new mission and priorities accordingly. Commissioner Manke suggested a friendly amendment to the motion to "pending decision of the City Council" should the City Council decide in February to reappoint commissioners and/or provide better direction to the CEC. Commissioner Manke opined that, should there be new direction or a City Council decision for
480 481 482 483 484 485 486 487 488 489 490 491 492 493	 March 9, 2017 CEC meetings until the City Council resolved if the CEC was to continue until April; whereupon vacancies could be filled and the CEC could move forward with a new mission and priorities accordingly. Commissioner Manke suggested a friendly amendment to the motion to "pending decision of the City Council" should the City Council decide in February to reappoint commissioners and/or provide better direction to the CEC. Commissioner Manke opined that, should there be new direction or a City Council decision for this CEC to move forward, the loss of Chair Becker's experience would prove valuable to the new commission as well.
480 481 482 483 484 485 486 487 488 489 490 491 492	 March 9, 2017 CEC meetings until the City Council resolved if the CEC was to continue until April; whereupon vacancies could be filled and the CEC could move forward with a new mission and priorities accordingly. Commissioner Manke suggested a friendly amendment to the motion to "pending decision of the City Council" should the City Council decide in February to reappoint commissioners and/or provide better direction to the CEC. Commissioner Manke opined that, should there be new direction or a City Council decision for this CEC to move forward, the loss of Chair Becker's experience would prove valuable to the new commission as well. Chair Becker stated his preference for leaving the motion as stated,
480 481 482 483 484 485 486 487 488 489 490 491 492 493 494	 March 9, 2017 CEC meetings until the City Council resolved if the CEC was to continue until April; whereupon vacancies could be filled and the CEC could move forward with a new mission and priorities accordingly. Commissioner Manke suggested a friendly amendment to the motion to "pending decision of the City Council" should the City Council decide in February to reappoint commissioners and/or provide better direction to the CEC. Commissioner Manke opined that, should there be new direction or a City Council decision for this CEC to move forward, the loss of Chair Becker's experience would prove valuable to the new commission as well. Chair Becker stated his preference for leaving the motion as stated, in part due to the situation if the City Council came back with a
480 481 482 483 484 485 486 487 488 489 490 491 492 493 494	 March 9, 2017 CEC meetings until the City Council resolved if the CEC was to continue until April; whereupon vacancies could be filled and the CEC could move forward with a new mission and priorities accordingly. Commissioner Manke suggested a friendly amendment to the motion to "pending decision of the City Council" should the City Council decide in February to reappoint commissioners and/or provide better direction to the CEC. Commissioner Manke opined that, should there be new direction or a City Council decision for this CEC to move forward, the loss of Chair Becker's experience would prove valuable to the new commission as well. Chair Becker stated his preference for leaving the motion as stated,
480 481 482 483 484 485 486 487 488 489 490 491 492 493 494 495 496	 March 9, 2017 CEC meetings until the City Council resolved if the CEC was to continue until April; whereupon vacancies could be filled and the CEC could move forward with a new mission and priorities accordingly. Commissioner Manke suggested a friendly amendment to the motion to "pending decision of the City Council" should the City Council decide in February to reappoint commissioners and/or provide better direction to the CEC. Commissioner Manke opined that, should there be new direction or a City Council decision for this CEC to move forward, the loss of Chair Becker's experience would prove valuable to the new commission as well. Chair Becker stated his preference for leaving the motion as stated, in part due to the situation if the City Council came back with a resolution or more information between the February and March
480 481 482 483 484 485 486 487 488 489 490 491 492 493 494 495 496 497	 March 9, 2017 CEC meetings until the City Council resolved if the CEC was to continue until April; whereupon vacancies could be filled and the CEC could move forward with a new mission and priorities accordingly. Commissioner Manke suggested a friendly amendment to the motion to "pending decision of the City Council" should the City Council decide in February to reappoint commissioners and/or provide better direction to the CEC. Commissioner Manke opined that, should there be new direction or a City Council decision for this CEC to move forward, the loss of Chair Becker's experience would prove valuable to the new commission as well. Chair Becker stated his preference for leaving the motion as stated, in part due to the situation if the City Council came back with a resolution or more information between the February and March 2017 CEC meetings, with three remaining commissioners at the
480 481 482 483 484 485 486 487 488 489 490 491 492 493 494 495 496 497 498	 March 9, 2017 CEC meetings until the City Council resolved if the CEC was to continue until April; whereupon vacancies could be filled and the CEC could move forward with a new mission and priorities accordingly. Commissioner Manke suggested a friendly amendment to the motion to "pending decision of the City Council" should the City Council decide in February to reappoint commissioners and/or provide better direction to the CEC. Commissioner Manke opined that, should there be new direction or a City Council decision for this CEC to move forward, the loss of Chair Becker's experience would prove valuable to the new commission as well. Chair Becker stated his preference for leaving the motion as stated, in part due to the situation if the City Council came back with a resolution or more information between the February and March 2017 CEC meetings, with three remaining commissioners at the table, if a new mission and priority was determined, that should be
480 481 482 483 484 485 486 487 488 489 490 491 492 493 494 495 496 497 498 499	 March 9, 2017 CEC meetings until the City Council resolved if the CEC was to continue until April; whereupon vacancies could be filled and the CEC could move forward with a new mission and priorities accordingly. Commissioner Manke suggested a friendly amendment to the motion to "pending decision of the City Council" should the City Council decide in February to reappoint commissioners and/or provide better direction to the CEC. Commissioner Manke opined that, should there be new direction or a City Council decision for this CEC to move forward, the loss of Chair Becker's experience would prove valuable to the new commission as well. Chair Becker stated his preference for leaving the motion as stated, in part due to the situation if the City Council came back with a resolution or more information between the February and March 2017 CEC meetings, with three remaining commissioners at the table, if a new mission and priority was determined, that should be handled by the new CEC. Chair Becker expressed appreciation for

504 505 Commissioner Sattler spoke in opposition to the motion, opining 506 that she'd support the CEC trying to accomplish as much as possible 507 in and between the next two CEC meetings to prove their value to 508 the City Council. Rather than wasting two of the twelve available 509 meetings in 2017, Commissioner Sattler suggested a lot could be 510 accomplished versus not accomplishing anything; and offered her 511 commissioner Sattler opined that if the current 513 commissioner swatted to keep the CEC going, she anticipated they 514 would share in wanting to see what they could accomplish; and if 515 they believed in community engagement, they should make the most 516 of those next two meetings whether or not they were the last two 517 meetings of the CEC in order to prove their value to the city. 518 Commissioner Manke stated that she could see both sides, and by 520 having served for three years and making herself available for 521 reappointment, admitted there was a bit of disappointment form her 522 perspective. Commissioner Manke opined that this could have been 523 a better discussion by the City Council rather than leaving the CEC <t< th=""><th>502 503</th><th>amendment. Chair Becker offered his availability and assistance to the CEC at their request.</th></t<>	502 503	amendment. Chair Becker offered his availability and assistance to the CEC at their request.
506that she'd support the CEC trying to accomplish as much as possible507in and between the next two CEC meetings to prove their value to508the City Council. Rather than wasting two of the twelve available509meetings in 2017, Commissioner Sattler suggested a lot could be510accomplished versus not accomplishing anything; and offered her511commitment to that work for her last two meetings serving on the512CEC. Commissioner Sattler opined that if the current513commissioners wanted to keep the CEC going, she anticipated they514would share in wanting to see what they could accomplish; and if515they believed in community engagement, they should make the most516of those next two meetings whether or not they were the last two517meetings of the CEC in order to prove their value to the city.518Commissioner Manke stated that she could see both sides, and by520having served for three years and making herself available for521reappointment, admitted there was a bit of disappointment form her522perspective. Commissioner Manke opined that this could have been523a better discussion by the City Council rather than leaving the CEC524in limbo; making her question the CEC as longer-term commissioner Sattler525Recognizing that the CEC only made recommendations to the City526Recognizing that the CEC as longer-term commissioner Sattler528noted the need to be open to that rejection. While admitting wasn't529as emotionally tied to the CEC as longer-term co		Commissioner Sattler spoke in opposition to the motion opining
507in and between the next two CEC meetings to prove their value to508the City Council. Rather than wasting two of the twelve available509meetings in 2017, Commissioner Sattler suggested a lot could be510accomplished versus not accomplishing anything; and offered her511commitment to that work for her last two meetings serving on the512CEC.513commissioners wanted to keep the CEC going, she anticipated they514would share in wanting to see what they could accomplish; and if515they believed in community engagement, they should make the most516of those next two meetings whether or not they were the last two517meetings of the CEC in order to prove their value to the city.518Commissioner Manke stated that she could see both sides, and by520having served for three years and making herself available for521reappointment, admitted there was a bit of disappointment form her522perspective. Commissioner Manke opined that this could have been523a better discussion by the City Council rather than leaving the CEC524in limbo; making her question the CEC's value to them.525secognizing that the CEC only made recommendations to the City528noted the need to be open to that rejection. While admitting wan't531to get their ideas before the City Council, especially for those532remaining on the CEC and potential route they may go in the future.533softher y position, noting the discussion at the last CEC meeting had544Commissioner		· · · · ·
508the City Council. Rather than wasting two of the twelve available509meetings in 2017, Commissioner Sattler suggested a lot could be510accomplished versus not accomplishing anything; and offered her511commistioner Sattler opined that if the current513commissioners wanted to keep the CEC going, she anticipated they514would share in wanting to see what they could accomplish; and if515they believed in community engagement, they should make the most516of those next two meetings whether or not they were the last two517meetings of the CEC in order to prove their value to the city.5180520having served for three years and making herself available for521reappointment, admitted there was a bit of disappointment form her522perspective. Commissioner Manke opined that this could have been523a better discussion by the City Council rather than leaving the CEC524in limbo; making her question the CEC's value to them.525semotionally tied to the CEC as longer-term commissioners may530be, Commissioner Sattler suggested making the most of the time left531to get their ideas before the City Council, especially for those532remaining on the CEC and potential route they may go in the future.533534544Commissioner Holub stated that her values would indicate to stick544would have in especting differing opinions, her position would 509meetings in 2017, Commissioner Sattler suggested a lot could be510accomplished versus not accomplishing; and offered her511commitment to that work for her last two meetings serving on the512CEC.513commissioner Sattler opined that if the current514would share in wanting to see what they could accomplish; and if515they believed in community engagement, they should make the most516of those next two meetings whether or not they were the last two517meetings of the CEC in order to prove their value to the city.518520521reappointment, admitted there was a bit of disappointment form her522perspective.523a better discussion by the City Council rather than leaving the CEC524in limbo; making her question the CEC's value to them.5257526Recognizing that the CEC only made recommendations to the City527Council, any or all of which they may reject, Commissioner Sattler528noted the need to be open to that rejection. While admitting wasn't529as emotionally tied to the CEC as longer-term commissioners may530be, Commissioner Holub stated her agreement with Commissioner531to get their ideas before the City Council, especially for those532remaining on the CEC and potential route they may go in the future.533534544commissioner Holub stated har agreement with Commissioner534Commissioner Holub stated that her values would indicate to stick535Satt		0 1
511commitment to that work for her last two meetings serving on the CEC. Commissioner Sattler opined that if the current to commissioners wanted to keep the CEC going, she anticipated they would share in wanting to see what they could accomplish; and if 	509	•
512CEC.Commissioner Sattler opined that if the current commissioners wanted to keep the CEC going, she anticipated they would share in wanting to see what they could accomplish; and if they believed in community engagement, they should make the most of those next two meetings whether or not they were the last two meetings of the CEC in order to prove their value to the city.518Commissioner Manke stated that she could see both sides, and by having served for three years and making herself available for reappointment, admitted there was a bit of disappointment form her perspective. Commissioner Manke opined that this could have been a better discussion by the City Council rather than leaving the CEC in limbo; making her question the CEC's value to them.525Recognizing that the CEC only made recommendations to the City Council, any or all of which they may reject. Commissioners may be, Commissioner Sattler suggested making the most of the time left to get their ideas before the City Council, especially for those remaining on the CEC and potential route they may go in the future.534Commissioner Holub stated her agreement with Commissioner Sattler's position, noting the discussion at the last CEC meeting had been for the 2017 work plan intended for first quarter projects. Commissioner Holub stated that her values would indicate to stick with it, and while respecting differing opinions, her position would 539534Commissioner Sparby agreed that he'd like the CEC to stick with their agreed-upon schedule and commitment and wrap up anything	510	accomplished versus not accomplishing anything; and offered her 513commissioners wanted to keep the CEC going, she anticipated they514would share in wanting to see what they could accomplish; and if515they believed in community engagement, they should make the most516of those next two meetings whether or not they were the last two517meetings of the CEC in order to prove their value to the city.518commissioner Manke stated that she could see both sides, and by520having served for three years and making herself available for521reappointment, admitted there was a bit of disappointment form her522perspective. Commissioner Manke opined that this could have been523a better discussion by the City Council rather than leaving the CEC524in limbo; making her question the CEC's value to them.525256526Recognizing that the CEC only made recommendations to the City527Council, any or all of which they may reject, Commissioner Sattler528noted the need to be open to that rejection. While admitting wasn't530be, Commissioner Sattler suggested making the most of the time left531to get their ideas before the City Council, especially for those532remaining on the CEC and potential route they may go in the future.533Sattler's position, noting the discussion at the last CEC meeting had544Commissioner Holub stated hat her values would indicate to stick535Sattler's position, noting the discussion at the last ceat on stick536been for the 2017 work plan intended for first quarter projects.537Comm
514would share in wanting to see what they could accomplish; and if515they believed in community engagement, they should make the most516of those next two meetings whether or not they were the last two517meetings of the CEC in order to prove their value to the city.518Commissioner Manke stated that she could see both sides, and by520having served for three years and making herself available for521reappointment, admitted there was a bit of disappointment form her522perspective. Commissioner Manke opined that this could have been523a better discussion by the City Council rather than leaving the CEC524in limbo; making her question the CEC's value to them.525Recognizing that the CEC only made recommendations to the City526Recognizing that the CEC as longer-term commissioner Sattler529as emotionally tied to the CEC as longer-term commissioners may530be, Commissioner Sattler suggested making the most of the time left531to get their ideas before the City Council, especially for those534Commissioner Holub stated her agreement with Commissioner535Sattler's position, noting the discussion at the last CEC meeting had536been for the 2017 work plan intended for first quarter projects.537Commissioner Holub stated that her values would indicate to stick538with it, and while respecting differing opinions, her position would539be to continue meeting as a CEC in February and March and provide539to the City Council as per their charge, whether or no		CEC. Commissioner Sattler opined that if the current
515they believed in community engagement, they should make the most516of those next two meetings whether or not they were the last two517meetings of the CEC in order to prove their value to the city.518519520having served for three years and making herself available for521reappointment, admitted there was a bit of disappointment form her522perspective. Commissioner Manke opined that this could have been523a better discussion by the City Council rather than leaving the CEC524in limbo; making her question the CEC's value to them.5258526Recognizing that the CEC only made recommendations to the City527Council, any or all of which they may reject, Commissioner Sattler528noted the need to be open to that rejection. While admitting wasn't529as emotionally tied to the CEC as longer-term commissioners may530be, Commissioner Sattler suggested making the most of the time left531to get their ideas before the City Council, especially for those532remaining on the CEC and potential route they may go in the future.534Commissioner Holub stated her agreement with Commissioner535Sattler's position, noting the discussion at the last CEC meeting had536been for the 2017 work plan intended for first quarter projects.537Commissioner Holub stated that her values would indicate to stick538with it, and while respecting differing opinions, her position would539be to continue meeting as a CEC in February and March and provide </td <td></td> <td></td>
516of those next two meetings whether or not they were the last two517meetings of the CEC in order to prove their value to the city.518Commissioner Manke stated that she could see both sides, and by519having served for three years and making herself available for521reappointment, admitted there was a bit of disappointment form her522perspective. Commissioner Manke opined that this could have been523a better discussion by the City Council rather than leaving the CEC524in limbo; making her question the CEC's value to them.525Secognizing that the CEC only made recommendations to the City526Recognizing that the CEC as longer-term commissioners may529be, Commissioner Sattler suggested making the most of the time left531to get their ideas before the City Council, especially for those532remaining on the CEC and potential route they may go in the future.533Sattler's position, noting the discussion at the last CEC meeting had534Commissioner Holub stated that her values would indicate to stick538with it, and while respecting differing opinions, her position would539be to continue meeting as a CEC in February and March and provide530tools to the City Council as per their charge, whether or not they531chose to use them or not.532commissioner Floub stated that her 'd like the CEC to stick with534Commissioner Sparby agreed that he'd like the CEC to stick with535tobs to the City Council as per their charge, whether or not they5		• • •
517meetings of the CEC in order to prove their value to the city.518Commissioner Manke stated that she could see both sides, and by520having served for three years and making herself available for521reappointment, admitted there was a bit of disappointment form her522perspective. Commissioner Manke opined that this could have been523a better discussion by the City Council rather than leaving the CEC524in limbo; making her question the CEC's value to them.525Council, any or all of which they may reject, Commissioner Sattler526Recognizing that the CEC only made recommendations to the City527Council, any or all of which they may reject, Commissioner Sattler528noted the need to be open to that rejection. While admitting wasn't529as emotionally tied to the CEC as longer-term commissioners may530be, Commissioner Sattler suggested making the most of the time left531to get their ideas before the City Council, especially for those532remaining on the CEC and potential route they may go in the future.533Sattler's position, noting the discussion at the last CEC meeting had534Commissioner Holub stated her agreement with Commissioner535Sattler's position, noting the discussion at the last CEC meeting had536been for the 2017 work plan intended for first quarter projects.537Commissioner Holub stated that her values would indicate to stick538with it, and while respecting differing opinions, her position would539be to continue meeting as a CEC in F
518Commissioner Manke stated that she could see both sides, and by520having served for three years and making herself available for521reappointment, admitted there was a bit of disappointment form her522perspective. Commissioner Manke opined that this could have beena better discussion by the City Council rather than leaving the CEC524in limbo; making her question the CEC's value to them.525526Recognizing that the CEC only made recommendations to the City527Council, any or all of which they may reject, Commissioner Sattler528noted the need to be open to that rejection. While admitting wasn't530be, Commissioner Sattler suggested making the most of the time left531to get their ideas before the City Council, especially for those532remaining on the CEC and potential route they may go in the future.533Sattler's position, noting the discussion at the last CEC meeting had536been for the 2017 work plan intended for first quarter projects.537Commissioner Holub stated that her values would indicate to stick538with it, and while respecting differing opinions, her position would539be to continue meeting as a CEC in February and March and provide540to be City Council as per their charge, whether or not they541choes to use them or not.542Commissioner Sparby agreed that he'd like the CEC to stick with544their agreed-upon schedule and commitment and wrap up anything
519Commissioner Manke stated that she could see both sides, and by having served for three years and making herself available for reappointment, admitted there was a bit of disappointment form her perspective. Commissioner Manke opined that this could have been a better discussion by the City Council rather than leaving the CEC in limbo; making her question the CEC's value to them.52585268527Council, any or all of which they may reject, Commissioner Sattler noted the need to be open to that rejection. While admitting wasn't as emotionally tied to the CEC as longer-term commissioners may be, Commissioner Sattler suggested making the most of the time left to get their ideas before the City Council, especially for those remaining on the CEC and potential route they may go in the future.533534534Commissioner Holub stated her agreement with Commissioner Sattler's position, noting the discussion at the last CEC meeting had been for the 2017 work plan intended for first quarter projects. Commissioner Holub stated that her values would indicate to stick with it, and while respecting differing opinions, her position would be to continue meeting as a CEC in February and March and provide tools to the City Council as per their charge, whether or not they chose to use them or not.543Commissioner Sparby agreed that he'd like the CEC to stick with their agreed-upon schedule and commitment and wrap up anything		meetings of the CEC in order to prove their value to the city.
520having served for three years and making herself available for521reappointment, admitted there was a bit of disappointment form her522perspective. Commissioner Manke opined that this could have been523a better discussion by the City Council rather than leaving the CEC524in limbo; making her question the CEC's value to them.525526526Recognizing that the CEC only made recommendations to the City527Council, any or all of which they may reject, Commissioner Sattler528noted the need to be open to that rejection. While admitting wasn't529as emotionally tied to the CEC as longer-term commissioners may530be, Commissioner Sattler suggested making the most of the time left531to get their ideas before the City Council, especially for those533remaining on the CEC and potential route they may go in the future.534Commissioner Holub stated her agreement with Commissioner535Sattler's position, noting the discussion at the last CEC meeting had536been for the 2017 work plan intended for first quarter projects.537Commissioner Holub stated that her values would indicate to stick538with it, and while respecting differing opinions, her position would540to obs to the City Council as per their charge, whether or not they541chose to use them or not.542Commissioner Sparby agreed that he'd like the CEC to stick with544their agreed-upon schedule and commitment and wrap up anything		Commissioner Manks stated that she could are both sides, and by 521reappointment, admitted there was a bit of disappointment form her522perspective. Commissioner Manke opined that this could have been523a better discussion by the City Council rather than leaving the CEC524in limbo; making her question the CEC's value to them.525526526Recognizing that the CEC only made recommendations to the City527Council, any or all of which they may reject, Commissioner Sattler528noted the need to be open to that rejection. While admitting wasn't529as emotionally tied to the CEC as longer-term commissioners may530be, Commissioner Sattler suggested making the most of the time left531to get their ideas before the City Council, especially for those532remaining on the CEC and potential route they may go in the future.533534534Commissioner Holub stated her agreement with Commissioner535Sattler's position, noting the discussion at the last CEC meeting had536been for the 2017 work plan intended for first quarter projects.537Commissioner Holub stated that her values would indicate to stick538with it, and while respecting differing opinions, her position would540to be to continue meeting as a CEC in February and March and provide541chose to use them or not.542543543Commissioner Sparby agreed that he'd like the CEC to stick with544their agreed-upon schedule and commitment and wrap up anything		•
522perspective. Commissioner Manke opined that his could have been523a better discussion by the City Council rather than leaving the CEC524in limbo; making her question the CEC's value to them.525526526Recognizing that the CEC only made recommendations to the City527Council, any or all of which they may reject, Commissioner Sattler528noted the need to be open to that rejection. While admitting wasn't529as emotionally tied to the CEC as longer-term commissioners may530be, Commissioner Sattler suggested making the most of the time left531to get their ideas before the City Council, especially for those532remaining on the CEC and potential route they may go in the future.533534534Commissioner Holub stated her agreement with Commissioner535Sattler's position, noting the discussion at the last CEC meeting had536been for the 2017 work plan intended for first quarter projects.537Commissioner Holub stated that her values would indicate to stick538with it, and while respecting differing opinions, her position would539be to continue meeting as a CEC in February and March and provide540tools to the City Council as per their charge, whether or not they541chose to use them or not.542State the agreed-upon schedule and commitment and wrap up anything
523a better discussion by the City Council rather than leaving the CEC524in limbo; making her question the CEC's value to them.525526526Recognizing that the CEC only made recommendations to the City527Council, any or all of which they may reject, Commissioner Sattler528noted the need to be open to that rejection. While admitting wasn't529as emotionally tied to the CEC as longer-term commissioners may530be, Commissioner Sattler suggested making the most of the time left531to get their ideas before the City Council, especially for those532remaining on the CEC and potential route they may go in the future.533534534Commissioner Holub stated her agreement with Commissioner535Sattler's position, noting the discussion at the last CEC meeting had536been for the 2017 work plan intended for first quarter projects.537Commissioner Holub stated that her values would indicate to stick538with it, and while respecting differing opinions, her position would539be to continue meeting as a CEC in February and March and provide540tools to the City Council as per their charge, whether or not they541chose to use them or not.542543544their agreed-upon schedule and commitment and wrap up anything		••••••••
524in limbo; making her question the CEC's value to them.525526526527528528529529530541531532534534535534536537538538534534535535536537538538539539534534535535536537538538539539530531532533534535536537537538538539540540541543543544
525Recognizing that the CEC only made recommendations to the City526Recognizing that the CEC only made recommendations to the City527Council, any or all of which they may reject, Commissioner Sattler528noted the need to be open to that rejection. While admitting wasn't529as emotionally tied to the CEC as longer-term commissioners may530be, Commissioner Sattler suggested making the most of the time left531to get their ideas before the City Council, especially for those532remaining on the CEC and potential route they may go in the future.533Sattler's position, noting the discussion at the last CEC meeting had536been for the 2017 work plan intended for first quarter projects.537Commissioner Holub stated that her values would indicate to stick538with it, and while respecting differing opinions, her position would539be to continue meeting as a CEC in February and March and provide540tools to the City Council as per their charge, whether or not they541chose to use them or not.542State argeed-upon schedule and commitment and wrap up anything
526Recognizing that the CEC only made recommendations to the City527Council, any or all of which they may reject, Commissioner Sattler528noted the need to be open to that rejection. While admitting wasn't529as emotionally tied to the CEC as longer-term commissioners may530be, Commissioner Sattler suggested making the most of the time left531to get their ideas before the City Council, especially for those532remaining on the CEC and potential route they may go in the future.533534534Commissioner Holub stated her agreement with Commissioner535Sattler's position, noting the discussion at the last CEC meeting had536been for the 2017 work plan intended for first quarter projects.537Commissioner Holub stated that her values would indicate to stick538with it, and while respecting differing opinions, her position would539be to continue meeting as a CEC in February and March and provide540tools to the City Council as per their charge, whether or not they541chose to use them or not.542543544Commissioner Sparby agreed that he'd like the CEC to stick with544their agreed-upon schedule and commitment and wrap up anything
527Council, any or all of which they may reject, Commissioner Sattler528noted the need to be open to that rejection. While admitting wasn't529as emotionally tied to the CEC as longer-term commissioners may530be, Commissioner Sattler suggested making the most of the time left531to get their ideas before the City Council, especially for those532remaining on the CEC and potential route they may go in the future.533534534Commissioner Holub stated her agreement with Commissioner535Sattler's position, noting the discussion at the last CEC meeting had536been for the 2017 work plan intended for first quarter projects.537Commissioner Holub stated that her values would indicate to stick538with it, and while respecting differing opinions, her position would539be to continue meeting as a CEC in February and March and provide540tools to the City Council as per their charge, whether or not they541chose to use them or not.542543544their agreed-upon schedule and commitment and wrap up anything		Recognizing that the CEC only made recommendations to the City
528noted the need to be open to that rejection. While admitting wasn't529as emotionally tied to the CEC as longer-term commissioners may530be, Commissioner Sattler suggested making the most of the time left531to get their ideas before the City Council, especially for those532remaining on the CEC and potential route they may go in the future.533534534Commissioner Holub stated her agreement with Commissioner535Sattler's position, noting the discussion at the last CEC meeting had536been for the 2017 work plan intended for first quarter projects.537Commissioner Holub stated that her values would indicate to stick538with it, and while respecting differing opinions, her position would540tools to the City Council as per their charge, whether or not they541chose to use them or not.542S43544Commissioner Sparby agreed that he'd like the CEC to stick with
530be, Commissioner Sattler suggested making the most of the time left531to get their ideas before the City Council, especially for those532remaining on the CEC and potential route they may go in the future.533534534Commissioner Holub stated her agreement with Commissioner535Sattler's position, noting the discussion at the last CEC meeting had536been for the 2017 work plan intended for first quarter projects.537Commissioner Holub stated that her values would indicate to stick538with it, and while respecting differing opinions, her position would539be to continue meeting as a CEC in February and March and provide540tools to the City Council as per their charge, whether or not they541chose to use them or not.542543544Commissioner Sparby agreed that he'd like the CEC to stick with their agreed-upon schedule and commitment and wrap up anything	528
531to get their ideas before the City Council, especially for those532remaining on the CEC and potential route they may go in the future.533534534Commissioner Holub stated her agreement with Commissioner535Sattler's position, noting the discussion at the last CEC meeting had536been for the 2017 work plan intended for first quarter projects.537Commissioner Holub stated that her values would indicate to stick538with it, and while respecting differing opinions, her position would539be to continue meeting as a CEC in February and March and provide540tools to the City Council as per their charge, whether or not they541chose to use them or not.542543544Commissioner Sparby agreed that he'd like the CEC to stick with their agreed-upon schedule and commitment and wrap up anything	529	as emotionally tied to the CEC as longer-term commissioners may 532remaining on the CEC and potential route they may go in the future.533534534Commissioner Holub stated her agreement with Commissioner535Sattler's position, noting the discussion at the last CEC meeting had536been for the 2017 work plan intended for first quarter projects.537Commissioner Holub stated that her values would indicate to stick538with it, and while respecting differing opinions, her position would539be to continue meeting as a CEC in February and March and provide540tools to the City Council as per their charge, whether or not they541chose to use them or not.542543544Commissioner Sparby agreed that he'd like the CEC to stick with their agreed-upon schedule and commitment and wrap up anything
533534535535536537537538538539540540541542543544544541542543544544545537538539540541542543544
534Commissioner Holub stated her agreement with Commissioner535Sattler's position, noting the discussion at the last CEC meeting had536been for the 2017 work plan intended for first quarter projects.537Commissioner Holub stated that her values would indicate to stick538with it, and while respecting differing opinions, her position would539be to continue meeting as a CEC in February and March and provide540tools to the City Council as per their charge, whether or not they541chose to use them or not.542S43544Commissioner Sparby agreed that he'd like the CEC to stick with their agreed-upon schedule and commitment and wrap up anything		remaining on the CEC and potential route they may go in the future.
535Sattler's position, noting the discussion at the last CEC meeting had536been for the 2017 work plan intended for first quarter projects.537Commissioner Holub stated that her values would indicate to stick538with it, and while respecting differing opinions, her position would539be to continue meeting as a CEC in February and March and provide540tools to the City Council as per their charge, whether or not they541chose to use them or not.542543544Commissioner Sparby agreed that he'd like the CEC to stick with their agreed-upon schedule and commitment and wrap up anything
536been for the 2017 work plan intended for first quarter projects.537Commissioner Holub stated that her values would indicate to stick538with it, and while respecting differing opinions, her position would539be to continue meeting as a CEC in February and March and provide540tools to the City Council as per their charge, whether or not they541chose to use them or not.542543544Commissioner Sparby agreed that he'd like the CEC to stick with their agreed-upon schedule and commitment and wrap up anything
537Commissioner Holub stated that her values would indicate to stick538with it, and while respecting differing opinions, her position would539be to continue meeting as a CEC in February and March and provide540tools to the City Council as per their charge, whether or not they541chose to use them or not.542543544Commissioner Sparby agreed that he'd like the CEC to stick with their agreed-upon schedule and commitment and wrap up anything		1 0
538with it, and while respecting differing opinions, her position would539be to continue meeting as a CEC in February and March and provide540tools to the City Council as per their charge, whether or not they541chose to use them or not.542543543Commissioner Sparby agreed that he'd like the CEC to stick with544their agreed-upon schedule and commitment and wrap up anything
539be to continue meeting as a CEC in February and March and provide540tools to the City Council as per their charge, whether or not they541chose to use them or not.542543543Commissioner Sparby agreed that he'd like the CEC to stick with544their agreed-upon schedule and commitment and wrap up anything
540tools to the City Council as per their charge, whether or not they541chose to use them or not.542543543Commissioner Sparby agreed that he'd like the CEC to stick with544their agreed-upon schedule and commitment and wrap up anything
541chose to use them or not.5425435445445445455465475485495495405405415425435445445445445455465475475485485495495405405415415425435445445445445455465475485495495405405415425425435445445445445455465475475485485495495495495495495405405415415425425435445445445445455465475485485495495495495495495495495495495495495
542543544Commissioner Sparby agreed that he'd like the CEC to stick with their agreed-upon schedule and commitment and wrap up anything
543Commissioner Sparby agreed that he'd like the CEC to stick with544their agreed-upon schedule and commitment and wrap up anything		chose to use them of not.
544 their agreed-upon schedule and commitment and wrap up anything		Commissioner Sparby agreed that he'd like the CEC to stick with pending over the next two meetings, no matter what the City Council 546 subcommittee decided to recommend to the full Council.
547	547

$\begin{array}{c} 548\\ 549\\ 550\\ 551\\ 552\\ 553\\ 554\\ 555\\ 556\\ 557\\ 558\\ 559\\ 560\\ 561\\ 562\\ 563\\ 564\\ 565\\ 566\\ 566\\ 567\end{array}$		 When Chair Becker initially put his motion on the table, Commissioner Tomlinson admitted he was ready to second it, especially given his surprise by the City Council's decision at their last meeting and his confusion as to where that had come from. Commissioner Tomlinson opined that the City Council's decision to not reappoint Commissioners Holub and Manke at a minimum spoke volumes to him and created his frustration, whether or not the Council's intent was to re-evaluate the CEC or whether or not it lived on moving forward. However, Commissioner Tomlinson agreed that the CEC should leave good tools for decision-makers as its legacy or as a foundation moving forward. Chair Becker agreed that the City Council's decision to not make CEC reappointments at this time spoke volumes that it intended to disband the CEC or move in a different direction. Ayes: 1 (Becker) Nays: 5 (Tomlinson, Sparby, Sattler, Holub, Manke) Motion failed.
568		iii. Other Items
569		m. Other items
570	8.	Commission Communications, Reports, and Announcements
571	0.	Commission Communications, Reports, and Announcements
	0	Commission on Leidista d Idams for Frederic Martin an
572	9.	Commissioner-Initiated Items for Future Meetings
573	10
574	10.	Recap of Commission Actions This Meeting
575		Vice Chair Holub briefly highlighted actions and follow-up for tonight's meeting,
576		including:
577		• City Manager Trudgeon's research on the CEC's discussion and feedback to
578		the comprehensive plan consultant and relationship of the CEC in the process;
579 580		 Further staff discussion of the welcome packet using CEC feedback and for revisiting later this user.
580		revisiting later this year;
581 582		 City Manager Trudgeon's review of the video tape of the previous CEC meeting to clarify the speaker as noted in meeting minute discussions; and
583		 City Manager Trudgeon providing a link to the CEC for the North Suburban
583 584		Gavel Association (done during tonight's meeting).
585		Gaver Association (done during tonight's meeting).
586	11.	Adjournment
587	11.	Commissioner Sattler moved, Commissioner Sparby seconded, adjournment of the
588		meeting at approximately 7:40 p.m.
589		mooring at approximatory 7.10 p.m.
590		Ayes: 6
590 591		Nays: 0
592		Motion carried.
593
0.00		